One Day Collage Class with Jo Lynn O'Neil

Teeny Tiny Pattern designed by Laura Heine at www.fiberworks-heine.com

(Painted Pony also carries a small selection)

We will be making a Teeny Tiny Collage by Laura Heine during our one day class at Painted Pony. It is important that you do a Teeny Tiny pattern, we do not have time to do a larger project since this is only 1 day. You will have some homework as there is limited time during the class.

Your homework is to have all of your fabrics fused before you get to class.

3 yards Steam a Seam 2 fusible (not lite) 12" wide or less of the wider fusible

Goddess Applique Pressing Sheet 17 x 24 (not smaller) or Precision fusing Mat 17 x 24

Sharpie medium point pen and a #2 pencil

Pattern Ease 19" x 23"

Sharp fabric scissors—I love Karen Kay Buckley's perfect scissors, (blue handle) works especially well for this.

Tweezers-optional

Fabric-scrap work well, look at your pattern and bring a good variety. The pieces don't have to be large. Smaller motifs must be used to keep in proportion with the smaller size of the pattern. The more variety you have the happier you will be when working on your project. You will need a good variety of background, cuttables and underlays.

Small rotary cutter, mat (12 x 17) and ruler (3 x 12)
